1	The amount of experience I've received during the program had been great! The teachers in the program have been amazing with all these new changes. They're always willing to help with ANY questions I have!	10/22/2020 10:12 PM
2	Some things that I see as strengths of mine is relatability to the students. I feel that it is very easy for me to get on their level without losing the respect from them.	10/22/2020 6:04 PM
3	The best parts of this program are undoubtedly the professors. Each one brings so much wisdom and knowledge to the program, sharing applicable resources and going out of their way to prepare us for teaching. I am so thankful that this program yields trainings in Google Suite for Education, AMSTI, Google Certification, and so much more. This program gives sufficient field experiences, hands-on learning opportunities, access to unlimited resources, and maintains a rigor that is necessary to produce competent teachers who can quickly become employed in a competitive market.	10/22/2020 5:45 PM
4	The things I find most valuable is the content that I need to know to both do well in my career and to pass the EdTPA. I want to be able to understand what I am doing and be able to do it well. I want to make sure that when I start teaching, I am as prepared as I can be. In this block, Dr.Smajic has been FANTASTIC when providing us the content needed and the tools needed for our careers. He makes the work he provides and what he wants us to know very direct and intentional. I learned so many things from him in the short weeks we have been together. Dr.Kirkland has also given us a lot of useful tools and RESOURCES that we can use in our classroom and in our lesson plans. The degree program has also been a lot better with addressing the needs of SPED students and different ways to help them and make sure they are thriving in the classroom. I appreciate the consideration especially since I am in the collaborative program. FEEDBACK!!! Smajic especially has been FANTASTIC at the feedback and giving us pointers with our lesson plans. This has been very helpful with lesson planning and making sure we are actually doing it correctly.	10/21/2020 2:17 PM
5	Professors are always prepared and have great resources for students. Professors always willing to help with anything.	10/21/2020 1:52 PM

1	I would love to see more advice from the professors regarding their experiences as first year teachers or tips for us as we get closer to beginning our first year. I would also enjoy hearing from someone who received a collaborative degree and what their everyday school life looks like.	10/22/2020 10:12 PM
2	One thing that I see as a growth area for me is knowing how to be strict enough. I am afraid to overstep my boundaries. My CT is always telling me that I can just tell them what I need to tell them but sometimes I do not feel that it is my place.	10/22/2020 6:04 PM
3	I want there to be a way to remove students that just don't need to be in the program. When we were in-person, we had many issues with the same people being rude, embarrassing, and just not contributing to the class. It has sadly become apparent that, even online, it won't change and I need some accountability. I don't know if it's being handled outside of class, but I'm tired of having my education time taken over because someone doesn't like the way things are being taught or handled. The disrespect I have experienced from my own classmates and that I've seen given to the professors is embarrassing and I'm tired of having to deal with it during my block experience. I need this block to be in-person. I understand that we are in a pandemic and this is what you guys felt was best, but for this degree plan, I felt like information would be better retained if I was in class with my professors. I feel like my professors don't know my skill level and work ethic because we are sitting on zoom for two hours a day. It's also hard being open in class because with the lagging or people talking over each other it's hard to get a word in and participate.	10/21/2020 2:17 PM
4	Begin talking about lesson plans and everything involved with live text earlier in the semester. I think this would eliminate some of the stress.	10/21/2020 1:52 PM

1	I really am enjoying not having to have a graded lesson where the University Supervisor comes into the classroom. I feel like it takes a lot of the stress off of us because we don't have to worry about the students acting out just because there is a new adult in the room. I also feel that it takes a lot of stress off of us because we can teach all of the lessons before we choose which one for them to grade.	10/22/2020 6:04 PM
2	Please realize we are still in a pandemic. I am overwhelmed. I have spoken to my classmates and they are also overwhelmed. I have never felt so burnt out in my life and I'm trying my best to stay positive and get through this wild time, but for the future, I would like it if professors are understanding and have these considerations with assignments. I understand we have so much to get done in a short time, but it's hard to get (5) lesson plans done for classes ON TOP of getting my lesson plans don't for teaching. I don't know if we need to start working on those sooner or what, but I need time. I know my classmates feel the same way. I hope with the next set of students there isn't a pandemic and they aren't burnt out, but just in case, please consider this for the future.	10/21/2020 2:17 PM
3	This has been a hard semester but I feel like the professors have been here to help us in every way they can.	10/21/2020 1:52 PM
